Hi Richard,

Hope your well, didn't see any miss calls from you on the mobile, but I have been constantly travelling so if I've missed anything then apologies.

Supply, shipping, product is all there waiting we just need the final Government nod to ship. The schedule is now that the product will load on the 29th, this has been confirmed by the government to shipping company which is also Russian. Its been incredibly frustrating with the sanctions etc.

If there are further delays, my brother will buy your position out in the first week of October, that way we can all move on. However Id be very disappointed if this happened as it would be great to get you the profits and then monthly profits for the 12 months of shipping. We literally have 6 ships dedicated to us from the last week of September.

The deal is a fantastic transaction, unfortunately none of us were expecting the Russian/USA sanction problems that came up on us.

Looking forward to getting this all done and completed.

I'm going sailing when the first shipment has left as I'm fed up of being in Moscow!

Kind regards

Neil
